

Professor William Drake DM FRCP
Professor of Clinical Endocrinology

Professor William Drake has been Consultant Physician and Endocrinologist at Barts and the London NHS Trust since February 2004. He has been the lead clinician for the Endocrinology centre since January 2006. His undergraduate Training was completed at Oxford University followed by the Royal London School of Medicine. He trained in internal medicine and endocrinology in Cape Town, Vancouver and at Barts, London. He has recently been awarded the Chair in Clinical Endocrinology. His clinical research interests include:

- Acromegaly
- Growth hormone deficiency and Hypopituitarism
- Conn's syndrome.